The installation of Automatic Ground Water Station (AGWS) will be done on a very small area of land owned by BWDB. Different alternative sites were explored for selecting the most suitable sites for installation of AGWS taking into account concerned social issues. It was observed from the screening that the installations will have no impact on social components. There is no land required for acquisition. It is found that the installation of above installations have no social impact. On the other hand, significant positive social and livelihood impacts are expected from the project. There is no labor influx during the installation. No works will be done/is being done on indigenous people's land.
